COMET CREATING 80 NEW JOBS

SCORES of new jobs are to be created at the Harlow distribution centre of leading electrical retailer Comet.

The company will make up to 80 positions available at its sprawling Edinburgh Way site as it seeks to centralise its service operations.

Vacancies are likely to include roles in administration, inventory control, engineering and warehouse work. The firm hopes to fill the new positions by July.

The move is part of a UK-wide efficiency strategy that has seen the firm make redundancies at sites elsewhere in the country. Managing director Hugh Harvey said it would "solidify" the company's 16-year commitment to Harlow while helping to cut costs in a difficult economic climate.

"Centralising our service functions will not only enable us to work more efficiently and significantly cut costs, it will also allow us to provide an improved and faster repair service for customers," he said.

"We are delighted that due to the investment in this site we will be able to offer jobs to talented individuals in the local community."

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

Harlow Council leader Andrew Johnson said: "This is a welcome boost for the town and for local residents looking for jobs in these challenging economic times."

"It shows that Harlow remains an attractive location for business, with its fantastic location and excellent value for money. With Comet's expansion it demonstrates that there is real confidence in Harlow as a place worth investing in."

MP Rob Halfon said the firm's commitment to Harlow proved the town was a "place to do business", adding: "At a time when we've had so much bad news I think this is a very encouraging development."

"I think it's a clear sign that the town is a place to do business and I will certainly be doing lots of shopping in Comet in the future!"

Mr Halfon added that he hoped to visit the Edinburgh Way site and meet the new staff following the recruitment process.

Elderly couple's years of hell at hands of benefits cheat

THE plight of an elderly Harlow couple who suffered years of harassment after their details were given to a suspected benefit fraudster they had reported to the authorities has been highlighted in the House of Commons.

The case was raised by the town's MP Robert Halfon during a debate on anonymity.

Mr Halfon said the couple, who he did not name, had been harassed, intimidated and in some cases physically abused after Government agencies revealed their identities to the fraudster who was their neighbour.

Speaking directly to justice minister

Crispin Blunt, Mr Halfon said the couple were "two utterly decent, salt-of-the-earth individuals" who had obeyed the law, worked hard and saved all their lives but who had suffered unnecessarily because of the actions of state agencies.

When the couple reported the benefits cheat they believed their identities would be kept secret under the terms of the Data Protection Act. But that did not happen and as a result they had suffered four years of harassment including having their car damaged and receiving death threats.

The husband had also received a court summons from the man seeking £5,000 for loss of benefit, using police as harassment and a range of other claims.

The couple had to employ a solicitor and barrister at a cost of almost £8,000 to defend themselves.

Speaking during the Commons debate, Mr Halfon asked: "What kind of country are we living in when the criminal justice system can be abused in such a way? What is the point of laws at all if the good and decent suffer because of incompetence and bureaucracy?"

Mr Blunt said he could not comment on individual cases but added: "I whole-ly share my honorable friend's concern that those who perform a public duty by informing on people who commit benefit fraud or any offence should not be subjected to harassment.

"Witnesses are vital to our criminal justice system and it is crucial that they receive appropriate support when they give evidence in criminal proceedings to ensure that justice is done.

He added: "I hope it gives his constituents some reassurance to know witness intimidation and witness protection is taken seriously and that we have significant powers to try to provide that protection."

Thieves steal Scouts' camping equipment

By VICKY LANE

vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A GROUP of Scouts and Cubs in Harlow have been left without any camping gear after thieves stole £12,500 worth of equipment over the weekend.

Just one week ahead of the 1st Great Parndon group's first scheduled camping trip of the year, large outdoor containers storing tents, cooking utensils and tools were taken from their Snow Farm hall on Saturday night.

Shocked leaders arrived at the hall, off School Lane, on Sunday morning to find that padlock bolts on the gates had been cut and the two containers storing the equipment were missing.

The green storage units, one of which was on loan from a local company, were worth thousands of pounds each.

They were also being used to store go-karts worth £200 a piece which the Scouts and Cubs had brought with fundraising money a couple of years ago.

Group Scout Leader Lynn Curtis said: "To be honest I'm lost for words regarding the cruelty of these people's actions.

"The Scouts are incredibly disappointed as they are going on winter camp this coming weekend and much of the equipment was stored in the container.

"The containers are huge so it was obviously an organised job as a lorry and crane would have been needed to lift them.

"The thing is the thieves probably didn't even realise that all that equipment was in the containers. It's most likely they were targeting the containers directly for scrap metal or possibly with the intent to sell the containers on."

Police are investigating the theft and have appealed for anyone who saw a lorry leaving the area overnight on Saturday to contact them.

"More than anything it's the historical loss that has really hit us," added Lynn. "Some of it has been with us for over 50 years and can't ever be replaced."

Anyone with information about the theft should contact PC Tristan Carter at Harlow police station on 0300 333 4444 or Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111

PAH in talks over parking problems

COMPLAINTS over parking at Harlow's Princess Alexandra Hospital have prompted health chiefs look to look at ways of increasing the number of patient and visitor spaces.

The PAH NHS Trust is currently consulting with staff over plans to rent bays at a town centre car park for the use of its employees in a bid to free up existing spaces at the hospital for public use.

The trust hopes a planned £1 rise in the cost of parking in the hospital grounds will persuade some staff to park the five minute walk away from the hospital to take advantage of the cheaper rate.

Chief executive Jane Herbert said: "Many hospitals across the UK have insufficient parking for the level of demand and PAH is no exception.

"We receive a high level of complaints from visitors and patients on this subject and our workforce complain about the same issue.

"We are looking to address both problems by offering a range of solutions and are seeking the views of our staff through a short consultation process."

Murder trial starts

THE trial of a man accused of murder was due to start at Chelmsford Crown Court yesterday (Wednesday).

Simon Payne (39), of Spencers Croft, Harlow, has pleaded not guilty to murdering Anthony Farley (36) and attempting to murder Clive Edwards (47) at Pennymead Tower on June 5 last year.

The trial is expected to last for two weeks.

Tragedy at the haunted hotel

By VICKY LANE

vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk

DO you believe in ghosts? Staff at the Green Man Hotel in Old Harlow in the 1980s certainly began to following a series of unexplained mishaps in the building.

According to some employees, pictures would suddenly fly off the walls, strange sounds echoed around the hallways and things began mysteriously disappearing.

One hotel secretary often returned to her previously tidy room to find make-up and clothes strewn all over the floor.

As things began to get out of hand, ghosthunters Geoffrey Groom-Hollingsworth and Leslie Pearce, a local medium and a television crew from the BBC's Ghost Hunters programme were called in to investigate the paranormal activity.

They didn't fail in their mission - after just one night, contact with the mischievous spirit was made.

Megan, as she apparently liked to be called, was 26-years-old and the wife of the innkeeper who had lived at the hotel in the early part of the 19th century. When she discovered her husband was infertile, the lonely young woman found solace with Will, the local blacksmith.

But Megan fell pregnant and was forced to beg forgiveness from the husband she had betrayed. He agreed to help raise the baby girl, but things were to always remain strained between the couple.

Then, one night when the child was barely five years of age, a mysterious fire broke out in her nursery, killing her and her wayward mother. The nursery, it later transpired, had once been the room the hotel secretary was occupying. In 1986, a year after Megan's enthralling tale was revealed, the medium returned to the hotel to revisit its most famous uninvited guest. . . . but left disappointed. Megan, she discovered, had moved on to pastures new.

● Did you ever hear any chilling tales regarding the ghost of the Green Man Hotel? Did you ever stay back in the 1980s when the ghost was discovered and sense something unusual? Write to Nostalgia, 6 West Gate, Harlow, CM20 1JW or email vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk.

DO YOU REMEMBER? Mark Hall School concert

DO you remember the sweet sound of massed recorder music at this festival concert at Mark Hall School?

More than 200 children from primary schools in Harlow, Roydon and Sheering took part in Harlow Schools Music Association's recorder festival in 1975.

This old newspaper cutting was brought in by Moya Truman, of Paddock Mead, who was deputy headteacher at Sheering Primary School at the time.

She saved the cutting because the photograph featured some of her school's talented students.

If you remember playing in the concert or sitting in the audience, send your memories to Nostalgia, Harlow Star, 6 West Gate, Harlow, CM20 1JW or email vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk.

NOSTALGIA UPDATE: Town centre concert

LAST week we published a photograph of a crowd enjoying what was thought to be a Kenny Ball concert in Harlow town centre during the mid 1950s.

However, James Dargan from Sawbridgeworth, who moved to Harlow in 1956, got in touch to put the record straight.

"The town centre market was opened in 1955 but the first concert wasn't until the August bank holiday in 1958 which featured Humphery Lyttelton.

"The Kenny Ball Jazz Band was not formed until 1958 so it could not have performed there in 1955."

If you think you can confirm which year this concert is from or which act is entertaining the crowds, write to Nostalgia, Harlow Star, 6 West Gate, Harlow, CM20 1JW or email vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk.

Tubes shock

Harlow Pool's new aquatubes have been criticised after an enquiry revealed they have cost £100,000 more than originally estimated and are three months late opening.

Councillor Glynis Nethercott, who sits on the recreation committee, said she hadn't realised estimates were so far off.

Wine warning

Police have issued a warning to residents about buying wine off the back of a lorry. It comes after £36,000 worth of white wine belonging to Roba UK was stolen from a depot in River Way, Harlow. A spokesman told people to be cautious when buying wine from anywhere other than established retail premises.

Toy shop raid

Smash and grab raiders stole £80 worth of furry animals from Coverdales Toy Shop in Market Square on Saturday. The thieves caused £1,500 worth of damage when they smashed the shop window and helped themselves to three toy parrots and two furry monkeys.

Get on the air

Harlow hospital's radio station is celebrating 15 years of local broadcasting by taking on new presenters. Enthusiasm, an ability to work in a team and a ability to get on with people are needed to become the next hot thing on the air at Princess Alexandra Hospital.

Committee confirms crematorium 'sell-off' plan

PLANS to part-privatise Parndon Wood Cemetery and Crematorium will go ahead after members of Harlow Council's scrutiny committee voted to uphold the original decision following a challenge by Labour councillors this week.

The committee, which met on Tuesday, agreed to push ahead with the appointment of a private firm to take over the running of the ageing facility.

Disappointed Labour group leader Mark Wilkinson told the Star he was not surprised by the outcome.

"The scrutiny committee has a Conservative majority so it was always unlikely to go any further," he said. "But we still believe that without a doubt this decision is not about what is best for the town but about how much profit Harlow Council can make."

"We realise the crematorium has problems and needs some investment but there are other money making options that would have kept the service in house and the costs to users fair."

"We just wanted to explore all the options. The Conservative administration obviously didn't."

Labour councillors have opposed the proposals since they were first agreed upon at an executive committee meeting on January 13. Last week scrutiny committee members Paul Sztumpf and Rod Truan called in the decision for further discussion.

Council leader Andrew Johnson said yesterday (Wednesday): "I am pleased the scrutiny committee has backed our decision to move forward with a private partner to run the service."

"The crematorium is in urgent need of major investment and I believe this partnership will provide that while at the same time safeguarding the council's control of this facility."

Hall sale secures theatre's future

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

THE future of the Victoria Hall Theatre in Old Harlow was finally secured this week after a group set up to save the building from closure completed its purchase from Essex County Council.

The sale marks the culmination of five years of fundraising and 12 months of protracted negotiations for new owners Victoria Hall Performing Arts Association, a charitable trust of volunteers dedicated to safeguarding the building's future as a community theatre.

The former tenants will now run and administer the Bury Road venue on behalf of the performing arts community in and around Harlow.

"After so long and so much support, it is wonderful to have the Victoria Hall in the hands of those who manage and care for it," said VHPAA chairman Chris Jolly.

"We are most grateful for the support and generous help given which will secure its future as an outstanding community theatre."

The county council's asking price of £100,000 was met through fundraising, donations and a £40,000 grant from the authority's own Community Initiatives Fund.

County councillor Jeremy Lucas, cabinet member for heritage, culture and the arts, confirmed the sale had gone through earlier this week.

"Essex County Council can announce that it has now sold the Victoria Hall Theatre to the Victoria Hall Performing Arts Association, who were renting the building for a number of years."

"It is a charming and friendly theatre seating just over 100. The building is used by talented members of the community such as the Harlow Theatre Company and Sawbridge-worth Players, a fantastic example of the local communities working together to bring artistic talent to the town of Harlow."

VHPAA is now looking for local businesses interested in sponsoring the theatre to ensure it has a bright future at the heart of the community.

RACE ACE:

Firm's help keeps Richard on track for a Games gold

A DISABLED athlete's dream of winning gold at next year's Paralympic Games is back on track after a local firm stepped in to help.

Richard Chiassaro (29), who is currently ranked second in the country at 100m wheelchair racing, was thrilled when sheet metal engineering company Harlow Group, in Edinburgh Way, carried out modifications to his racing chair which were needed to bring it up to competitive standards.

The alterations, which would normally cost around £500, were carried out as a goodwill gesture by the company.

Richard, of Seymours Road, Harlow, said: "The chair is 10 times better than I could ever have imagined and has already made a massive difference."

Richard, who suffers from spina bifida, has played sport ever since he got his first wheelchair at the age of 13. He started with basketball before moving into competitive racing two years ago. "My sport has given me a better life," he said. "If I didn't keep as active as I do I don't know what my life would be like. I would be struggling every day."

Harlow Group business manager Lee Golding said: "It was our pleasure to aid Richard on his way to becoming world number one, which we are confident he will achieve."

Concerns over cuts to library opening times

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

PLANS to slash the opening hours at four of Harlow's five libraries have raised fears over the possible impact on children's education.

Cash-strapped Essex County Council is currently consulting on its proposals to reduce opening hours at libraries at Old Harlow, Great Parndon, Tye Green and Mark Hall by a total of 13 hours a week as it looks at ways to balance the books.

But this week the father of two children who regularly visit the libraries to participate in reading groups and activity days has criticised the plans, claiming the cutbacks will restrict their use of the service.

Alan Scott, of Westbury Rise, said: "I regularly take my kids down to the library at Old Harlow. It's a fantastic learning resource and there are always activity days and book groups they enjoy taking part in."

"But if the opening hours are cut it will inevitably lead to some of these fantastic group activities being lost and will make it much more difficult for many to use the service at all."

Another parent, who did not want to be named, said he feared the cutbacks were the "tip of the iceberg".

"Although the county council has said it is not planning to close any of the libraries, I'm worried that reducing the opening hours is merely the first step towards winding down the service completely."

"My kids love using the Old Harlow library. They would be devastated if they couldn't use it anymore."

The county council claims the proposals for revised opening hours were determined by the number of people living in each library's catchment area and would lead to a more co-ordinated approach to the provision of services.

County councillor Jeremy Lucas, cabinet member for heritage, culture and the arts, said: "Essex libraries have already taken steps to reduce the net cost of the service, partly by actively seeking ways of increasing income."

"These measures are not sufficient in themselves to make all the required savings but the approach we have adopted is flexible enough to offer the opportunity of extending opening hours again wherever we can introduce further revenue-producing arrangements with other organisations."

To take part in the county council's consultation exercise, log on to www.essex.gov.uk/libraries. The closing date for submissions is Monday (February 14).

'Garden Village' houses in line for conservation status

A NUMBER of homes in Old Harlow could be designated a self-contained conservation area.

Residents living in the clutch of distinctive properties in St John's Avenue, pictured above, Manor Road and The Hill are currently being consulted on the plans which would protect their historic homes from future redevelopment.

The properties were built in the 1920s as part of local entrepreneur Charles Scruby's plans for Harlow Garden Village, a rural idyll for city dwellers wanting to escape from the confines of the capital.

Although the ambitious project - which also included plans for sports and leisure facilities - was never completed in its entirety, it remains an impressive example of the influential 'garden village' movement which helped inspire Sir Frederick Gibberd's masterplan for Harlow New Town.

Each home bears the distinctive hallmarks of the style, painted in pastel colours and featuring front garden lawns, hedges, steep-pitched roofs and canopy porches.

Tony Hall, chairman of Harlow Council's environment policy working group, said: "Harlow is well known as a post-war new town but its history of progressive design goes back much further to Harlow Garden Village and I hope that the consultation supports it being recognised."

"We have on our doorstep a great example of a historic movement that gave us areas like Hampstead Garden Suburb in London and paved the way for the whole 'new town' movement."

"Without it we arguably wouldn't have Harlow and places like Milton Keynes."

Conservation area status would impact on the council's assessment of future planning applications and would mean that residents need to notify the authority before carrying out work to trees or demolishing any part of a building.

Police appeal for witnesses to robberies on cycle track

POLICE investigating two robberies on a cycle track in Harlow in the space of four weeks say they have not ruled out the possibility the same person was responsible.

The first incident took place in the early hours of Sunday, December 11.

A woman walking through the underpass on the track leading to the Katherines estate was approached from behind by a white man wearing a hoodie. He snatched her handbag which contained a Nokia mobile phone.

Then, on the evening of January 6, a man on a mobility scooter was on the path near Sycamore Field when he was confronted by a white male who demanded money.

It is believed two other people may have been involved.

Investigating officer PC Mark Goodings said: "At this stage I cannot confirm whether it is the same man carrying out these crimes."

"I am keen to speak with anyone who may have information regarding these two robberies."

Anyone who can help with the investigation should contact PC Goodings at Harlow police station on 0300 333 4444.

RAINDROPS NURSERY:

Youngsters got a taste of flavours from the Far East when a Harlow restaurant provided lunch to celebrate the Chinese New Year. Zenz Oriental Restaurant, in Old Harlow, supplied a full menu of snacks for children at the nursery in Little Grove Field to tuck into, including spare ribs, seaweed, chicken satay and sesame prawn toast.

Parents of Chinese nationality then dropped in to supervise a range of activities from origami and creating dragon masks to making Chinese lanterns and teaching the children how to write in Chinese.

Nursery manager Chris Chaffe said: "It was really great as we celebrate lots of different cultures here at the nursery and the whole day has really helped to make the children more aware of the Chinese culture."

"Many of the children had never eaten Chinese food so it was a chance for them to try new things – and most of them really enjoyed the new flavours!"

STEWARDS: Budding astronomers from the Parnell Road school travelled to the Institute of Astronomy in Cambridge for a talk by Dr Andrew Fox.

Members of the Stewards Sky Watch Group listened as Dr Fox spoke about the European Southern Observatory, an inter-governmental research organisation responsible for building and operating some of the largest and most technically advanced telescopes in the world.

The eager stargazers heard how the VLT (Very Large Telescope) located at one of the ESO's sites has allowed astronomers to obtain the first ever picture of an extra solar planet orbiting a star 173 light years away.

They were also told the ESO is planning to build an even bigger telescope – the European Extremely Large Telescope – which is hoped to be operational by 2018. Stewards' science curriculum development manager Geraldine Wright said: "The pupils all found it very interesting and were very thrilled with the talk." (s)

GATEWAY NURSERY: Children were thrilled when a giant rabbit hopped in to the Perry Road nursery to welcome in the Chinese New Year.

In celebration of the Year of the Rabbit, the VIP visitor greeted the excited youngsters and helped them with their day of Chinese-themed activities.

The children made rabbit masks and Chinese lanterns, munched on prawn crackers and enjoyed creating art with noodles.

Deputy manager Sophie Smith, said: "I think it's important for us to celebrate and teach the children about other cultures and religions."

"They got to learn exactly what Chinese New Year is all about whilst enjoying a day of special activities."

"And, of course, most of them loved Debbie the Rabbit – although some of the smaller ones were a bit scared at first!"

Night out is no fun for the 'bag' bunch

By VICKY LANE

vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A GROUP of hardy souls braved strong winds and an uncomfortable night's sleep in the grounds of a church on Friday night to raise awareness of the plight of Harlow's homeless.

More than a dozen people, including Harlow Council leader Andrew Johnson, bedded down in sleeping bags at St Mary-at-Lutton Church for the Streets2Homes sleepout, which also raised funds for the Wych Elm-based homelessness charity.

Streets2Homes manager Kerrie Eastman said: "We were really pleased at how the event went and want to thank everyone who turned up. Even people who couldn't stay out because of health reasons came to offer their support which was really nice."

"I think those who did stay the night gained a lot from the experience. It highlighted just how isolating and scary being homeless is and, of course, really raised empathy towards those who have to go through it on a daily basis."

Councillor Johnson said: "I had an uncomfortable and sleepless night. It really bought home to me the challenges that homeless people face and why it's important to raise awareness of the issue."

"I have the luxury of going home to a comfortable bed and a warm shower, they can't. That's why it's important to raise awareness of the issue and the work charities like Streets2Homes do in supporting people who find themselves in difficult situations."

All those who took part made it through the night and were rewarded with a cooked breakfast at the church in

The Gowers the following morning.

Rev Lynn Hurry, who also joined the sleepout, said: "At the end of the day we all did it and got a very thought-provoking experience and raised a few hundred pounds for Streets2Homes."

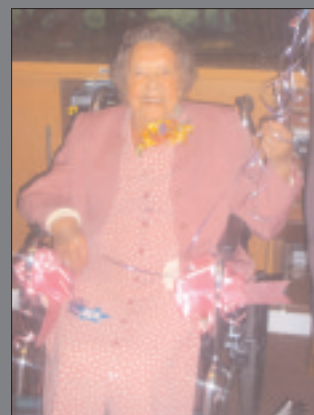

"The thing that struck me most was that despite sleeping out in the cold all night, none of us really could fully experience that of the homeless because each one of us knew that we had a home to go back to."

"Homeless people do not have that luxury. It really has made many of us more aware of the serious situation in our town and nationwide."

IN THE BAG:

Monica celebrates her 100th birthday with two parties!

SPRITLY Monica Hoskins celebrated her 100th birthday in fine style with two parties on the same day!

After attending a morning church service, the birthday girl was whisked off to a restaurant to enjoy lunch with her family before returning to her home in Fitzwilliam Court, Harlow, for a birthday buffet.

There she was joined by other residents in the sheltered accommodation where Mrs Hoskins has lived since it opened in 1987.

A staff member told the Star: "Monica is a lovely lady who's always got a smile on her face. You would never guess she's 100!"

"She had a fantastic time celebrating her landmark day and was really pleased to see all her family and friends enjoying themselves too."

Man fails in bid to overturn road rage attack jail sentence

A MAN jailed for two years for his part in a road rage brawl on a petrol station forecourt has failed in an attempt to get the sentence quashed.

Peter James was sent to prison last July after he was found guilty at Chelmsford Crown Court of affray.

Two other men – Bradley Parker and Daniel Rumsey – were jailed for 18 months and 10 months respectively for their parts in the attack.

James (47), of Oak Drive, Sawbridge-worth, appealed against the sentence but on Friday three judges rejected his arguments and upheld the sentence.

Lord Justice Hooper, sitting at the Court of Appeal, said that in September 2008 a brawl broke out after Rumsey, who was driving a van, and James, in a Volkswagen Golf with a group of other people, arrived at the petrol station in Epping New Road.

After a verbal confrontation, Rumsey walked over to the car and hit James on the top of the head with a claw-hammer.

The other men then waded in and the hammer was taken from Rumsey and used in a fight which left him with serious injuries.

Lawyers representing James argued the judge at the original trial was wrong to sentence him on the basis that, as the driver pulling in to the petrol station after Rumsey's van, he was intent on violence.

But in rejecting the argument and upholding the sentence, Lord Justice Hooper said: "In our view it was an inference the judge was entitled to draw."

Pensioner alerted by trickster's request for bank details

RESIDENTS have been warned to be on their guard against telephone fraudsters after a Harlow pensioner received a hoax call requesting his bank details.

The call was made to Keith Jackson (72), of Church Leys, by a woman claiming to be a salesperson from telephone firm Talk Talk. But Mr Jackson became suspicious when he was asked for his bank details.

"A young lady called at 10.30 in the morning asking questions about which telephone company I was with and said she could help me save £10 a month," said Mr Jackson.

"I am with Talk Talk so I didn't think anything of it at first, but then she passed me over to someone claiming to be her manager who really pushed me for my bank details. Alarm bells began to ring because the firm already have my details." Mr Jackson hung up and immediately phoned Talk Talk, who told him the call had been a hoax.

He added: "I'm just glad it didn't go further. I want to warn other residents in Harlow about these fraudsters."

Essex Police crime reduction officer Graham Anthony said people should never divulge their personal or bank details to a cold caller.

"Treat all calls with care," he said. "You should never give your details to anyone who contacts you unexpectedly, including by telephone, post, email or in person."

A Talk Talk spokesman told the Star they were carrying out a full investigation into the call.

Smiles all round for the Star's Superkids

MEET Harlow's top tots, all of them winners of the Star's 2011 Superkids competition.

The photogenic four were invited along to our offices in the town centre on Thursday to receive their prizes after being voted the cutest kids on the block by Star readers.

Winner of the 0-9 months category was Amelia Dugard, who was accompanied by proud mum Clare, of Westbury Rise, Harlow, for the presentation.

The 10-18 months category was won by cherubic toddler Xanthe Manktelow, whose mum Rebecca, of Ridgeways, Harlow, was delighted to receive her prize.

Winner of the 19-36 months age group was Isobel Ledain, who came with mum Gemma, of Commonfields, Harlow.

And 3-5 age group winner Elliot Leach was all smiles when he was presented with his prize watched by mum Wendy and sister Abi.

All four won 20x16 inch framed prints of their winning photographs. The pictures, worth £220, were presented by Star editor Ken Morley.

The Superkids competition took place in September when parents were invited to take their children to our photohoots at the Sainsbury's supermarket in Fifth Avenue and Tesco at Church Langley.

All the pictures were then published in a special supplement and readers invited to cast their telephone votes for their favourites.

It's a disgrace my son was refused a flu jab

SIR, The recent article on flu ("What can you do to keep the flu at bay", January 27) tells us who is most at risk and should have a flu jab, including young children and people with asthma.

That's all well and good but it's a lucky dip who gets one. My asthmatic son is four but was refused his jab as he didn't require a new prescription because I had two inhalers at home already.

He goes to the asthma clinic regularly and was allowed the jab last year. This made no difference and he was still refused. Perhaps we should all go and order unrequired inhalers just so we can have the flu jab?

Subsequently, he then contracted influenza type B and had a 10-day stay in Princess Alexandra Hospital. Surely the jab would have cost the Government a lot less money?

My son has since been allowed to have the jab after the hospital wrote a letter to our GP to confirm he requires one, but this is too little too late. The lucky dip system is a disgrace when it comes to people's lives.

Heartless reaction to couple's home plight

SIR, I write in response to the letter ("Stop being a burden", January 20) regarding my baby granddaughter's illness due to the damp, mouldy and overcrowded flat she is forced to live in with her family.

To set things straight, the family had originally been given a two-bedroom flat in Potter Street. It was lovely and spacious with plenty of room for two children, but then they were told they had to move into their one-bedroom flat in Longbanks with holes in the windows and damp and mould on the walls.

Former Harlow MP Bill Rammell was dealing with their case and he told them not to move. I'm sure if the Conservatives hadn't got in last May the family would have been re-housed, but as it happened they were told they would be evicted if they didn't move to Longbanks.

Bearing in mind they had to pay full rent on both properties (they don't claim and never have claimed anything) from April to July, the council even wanted council tax on both properties.

I have worked for 30 years as secretary of Harlow Boxing Club, helping to keep the kids off the streets. I wonder what whoever wrote the disgraceful, hurtful and anonymous letter has ever

Academy bid is a mistake

SIR, Paul Beashel, chair of the Passmores School governing body, knows better than most why there have been no objections from parents or the local community to the school's application for Academy status (Star, February 3).

When they proposed to close their own school and move to a new building, there were several packed public meetings at which the overwhelming majority of those attending were opposed, but the governing body took no notice. There seems to have been a lesson well learnt here.

At that time, one of the serious concerns was that Passmores would become an Academy and so begin a two-tier system of education in Harlow. Assurances were given that this would not be the case. Their application is, therefore, the most spectacular U-turn.

This could well be surpassed if they fail to keep their assurance that transport will be provided for those pupils who live in the area currently served by Passmores to travel to the new school.

Mr Beashel knows just how easy it is to give empty assurances. It was he who said that priority admissions to the new school would be given to pupils who live in the Passmores area "in perpetuity". This, again, will not be the case.

All of this is relevant as new assurances are being given to staff that their terms and conditions of employment and pay will not be affected. The current administration is in no position to give such assurances as they have no idea who will follow them.

We would do well to take heed of the example of Harlow College. When it was first incorporated (left local authority control), the wages and the holidays of the staff were on a par with schools. Now, some years on, lecturers' grades have been replaced with less qualified tutors, wages have decreased and holiday entitlement is much less.

The sad fact is that none of this is necessary. The vast sums of money that were around at the beginning of the Academy programme are no longer there and it is estimated that the start-up money is outweighed by the legal costs of setting up the Academy.

What Passmores has achieved is to throw into turmoil the collaborative working that has existed in Harlow for some years.

As parents of Passmores students, we were informed of the governing body's decision as a throwaway line in a festive message at the end of December. The closing words were "If you want to know what it means for your child directly, the answer is nothing".

One is bound to wonder, then, why are they doing it?

done for the community?

Whoever it is probably works for the council or claims themselves as they clearly have too much time on their hands. My granddaughter could have died. How can someone be so heartless?

Care I received at PAH could not be bettered

SIR, Last week I had to go into Princess Alexandra Hospital for a double hernia operation. I had read and heard all sort of things about our hospital, not all of it complimentary.

Let me say I could not have been treated any better if I had been royalty.

Right from the start I was met by nurses and doctors who were very friendly, efficient and got me ready in a relaxed and humorous way.

I was met by the anaesthetist in theatre who calmly explained what was going to happen.

After the operation I was wheeled into Tye Green ward and was treated with the greatest respect and efficiency.

I would like to convey my heartfelt gratitude to all the nurses and doctors at PAH for what, in different circumstances, could have been a very distressing and uncomfortable time.

Council must rethink toilet closures plan

SIR, The closure of public toilets in Harlow is a potty decision and needs to be reconsidered.

How many people live and shop in Harlow? How will it affect our prevention against infectious diseases? What facilities would be available to us?

I suggest a list is made of all shop premises that have a toilet and an inspection of the same. You will be amazed at what is available – in some there are no toilet seats, most run out of toilet paper, doors won't close, cold water and cold air. This is 2011.

Visit The Stow or Old Harlow. Have you noticed the fashion accessories there are walking sticks? How many people are on water tablets for high blood pressure?

Then there are the bus station toilets where lights suddenly go out and middle cubicles are left in the dark.

Please think again.

Impending census is an invasion of privacy

SIR, We are only weeks away from what has been described as the most intrusive census ever.

On March 27 we will have to account for anyone who spends the night at our homes and their personal details, including their relationship with us. People in England will also have to give any address where they spend more than 30 nights in a year.

Anyone not answering these questions is liable to a £1,000 fine and a criminal record. When they were in opposition Government ministers criticised the "snooper census" for showing no respect for privacy, but once in power failed to do anything.

At the very least they should make it clear that anyone safeguarding their privacy on these highly personal questions will not face charges.

Cinema is too noisy

SIR, Do you ever wonder why the snacks you buy at the cinema are sold in packets that make so much noise? Me too.

As if the rustling and crunching is not bad enough, you have to put up with loud music blaring from other films during the quiet sections of your film and inconsiderate people barging into the auditorium announcing loudly that they are in the wrong place.

Here's a polite suggestion to Cineworld – please consider installing double doors so we don't have to listen to the babble of people leaving their films while we are trying to watch ours.

Join the girls at this year's Race for Life

ORGANISERS of the Harlow Cancer Research UK Race for Life will be painting the town pink tomorrow (Friday) when they officially launch the town's biggest fundraising event.

With more than 4,000 women expected to take part in this year's race, the team will be out in full force in Harlow's Water Gardens urging local women to 'join the girls' and raise funds for cancer research

More than 250 women have already signed up for the event, which is being supported by the Star, since details were reported last week. But the charity is hoping tomorrow's official launch will boost participant numbers to help them to reach their £315,000 fundraising target.

Event manager Lucy Hynes said: "The Harlow Race for Life has always had such an incredible atmosphere and we always receive such great support from the town. I hope that this year won't be any different.

"One in three of us will be affected by cancer at some point in our lives which is why this event really is for everyone.

"Though it can be an emotional day, it is also an amazing one. It is a time when women can join together and run in memory of loved ones lost to the disease, or in celebration of those who have beaten it."

She added: "This year we hope more women than ever before will take part. We need our Race for Life regulars, as well as women who took part years ago, to join together with many new faces to help save more lives."

Harlow's Race for Life will take place in the Town Park on Sunday, May 15. All women - whatever their age, shape, size and abilities - are invited to walk, jog or run the 5k or 10k routes.

To enter, log on to www.raceforlife.org or call 0871 641 1111.

Friends complete Africa charity trek

TRAVELLING through minefields, eating camel and giving lifts to armed men across the Sahara Desert are just some of the tales a Harlow man has to tell after completing a gruelling charity trek through Africa.

Oliver Godfrey (22) and pal David Noakes took on the Timbuktu Challenge from London to Mali in a 17-year-old Peugeot 205 – and were the only team to make it to the finish line!

The three-week adventure, which raises money for new hospitals in the African region, took the pair through Europe, Morocco, Western Sahara, and Mauritania, an area through which the British Foreign Office currently advises against all but essential travel because of high threats of terrorism.

Oliver, of The Fortunes, told the Star: "It was very difficult and tiring at times, and there were quite a few occasions when things got tense – the time we went through a minefield without a guide for example – but overall it was just amazing."

"I was very surprised that the car made it. It

vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk

was the cheapest and oldest one of all the teams, and that included a Mercedes and a Jeep Cherokee!

"By the end of the trip we had lost the bumper and exhaust and the car was leaking brake fluid heavily, but we still managed to roll on through to the finish line!"

So far the pair have raised £400 for their charity and hope to raise another £500 from the sale of their car which they left in Bamako to be auctioned off to buyers.

Since returning to England, Oliver said he has found it hard to get used to 'normal' life again. "I didn't want to come back, to be honest. I wanted to stay out there as long as I possibly could!"

"It has definitely given me the travel bug and now we are saving and planning for our next adventure – driving from Bangkok to London!"

There is still time to donate to the Timbuktu charity. For details, visit the website at www.justgiving.com/timbuktu-challenge.

Mobility group in urgent need of volunteers to drive its fundraising

A HARLOW charity working to keep disabled residents mobile is looking for volunteers to help with fundraising.

Harlow Shopmobility, a local non-profit organisation which loans out wheelchairs and mobility scooters in the community, needs help to keep the popular service running.

Manager Sue Fidler said: "Currently we have around 400 members using our services but unless we secure more funding then our future is uncertain."

"A lot of our customers would barely leave their homes without us. We help people remain mobile, regain some independence and be able to socialise again. What we really need are some dedicated individuals with knowledge of charitable work to help push fundraising ideas."

"In addition we would like people, perhaps those who have retired and have some time on their hands, to offer their services as trustees or directors. It's all about making that difference in your community."

To offer assistance or for more information, contact Sue on (01279) 453024 or email shopmobharlow@aol.co.uk.

Free course will offer guidance on money skills

CASH-strapped Harlow residents are being offered the opportunity to get their finances back on track with a free money management course.

Christians Against Poverty, a national debt counselling charity, is running a three-week CAP Money programme that will give advice on money management, budgeting tips and how to curtail expenditure.

CAP money coach Albert Gunter said: "With the recession still creating havoc with people's finances it's a critical time for us to step in and help."

"We are convinced that, with the launch of CAP Money, many will be saved from slipping further into debt whilst picking up excellent financial skills that will stand them in good stead."

He added: "We aim to bring hope to those in financial difficulty in the local community."

The course, run in partnership with New Life Christian Fellowship, is open to everyone and begins on February 19 at the Christian Fellowship church in Purford Green, Harlow. Contact Albert Gunter on (01279) 861402 for more details.

THERE can be few people who have missed the news that the wedding of the year – Prince William and Kate Middleton – will take place on April 29.

So as the big day looms ever closer, we want Star readers to let us know how you plan to celebrate.

Will you be heading to London to see the celebrations or stay at home and enjoy a street party with the neighbours?

Are you getting married on the same day or will you be celebrating your own wedding anniversary?

Let us know by writing to the Harlow Star, 6 West Gate, Harlow, CM20 1JW or email vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk.

LES COBEN: At a recent meeting with the National Pensioners' Convention, Minister of State for Pensions Steve Webb made the following statement: "The National Insurance fund is an accounting tool rather than an actual fund. The Government borrows from the fund and therefore if that money was used to pay for higher pensions the Government would have to raise that money from elsewhere." Today's pensioners have paid NI contributions during their entire working lives. The fund was reformed in 1948 and it was NOT a tax – its sole reason was to provide state pensions and benefits. Even though HM Treasury has stated there is currently a £54bn surplus in the NI fund, the basic state pension is still only £97.65 (rising to £102.15 in April), a whopping £62.85 short of the Government's official poverty level figure of £165 (October 2010). Why can't our pensions be increased to a reasonable figure? Even if every pensioner in the land was given a £3,636 bonus there would still be £14bn in the NI fund. After all, if the bankers can enjoy mammoth bonuses why shouldn't we be afforded the same courtesy?

ROBERT HALFON: National Insurance was originally introduced in 1911 to pay for medical benefits (such as sick leave, and free treatment for tuberculosis) and a time-limited unemployment benefit for workers in industries such as shipbuilding that suffered from the extremes of boom and bust.

A key assumption of the original fund was an unemployment rate of 4.6 per cent. At the time, unemployment was at three per cent and the fund was expected to build a surplus very quickly to guard against a rainy day.

One hundred years of government – of all three parties – has seen this original mission expanded to include the basic state pension and other programmes, which are mostly to the good. However, governments have also hijacked the fund for other uses. As you say, it is now essentially an income tax.

Because of this, it would be hugely expensive for the Government to raid the National Insurance Fund for higher pensions. In order to do this we would have to drastically cut spending – or drastically raise taxes – to make up the shortfall elsewhere.

I believe in clear and simple taxes: people have a right to know where their money is going. But the system that we have inherited lumps everyone's money into the same pot. What we pay in National Insurance today goes to pay for public spending today, not our pensions tomorrow. There has never been a legal connection between what we put in and what we get out.

In some ways, we have lived a lie with National Insurance. I would support a simpler and more transparent system, with just one rate of income tax rather than income tax and National Insurance on top of each other. This would be much cheaper to administer and the savings could be ploughed back into higher pensions.

However, I absolutely agree that the basic state pension must increase. Older people, who have worked all their lives for Britain, deserve comfort and dignity. That is why, as you rightly say, in April we will increase the basic state pension by £4.50 to £102.15.

Low income pensioners in Harlow will especially benefit as the majority of Pension Credit recipients will see a £4.75 per week increase in their Guarantee Credit.

Although Gordon Brown created the Cold Weather Payment, it was dare I say it a one-off measure for the election year. But the Conservative-led Government has made them permanent and tripled the amount from £8.50 to £25. This should help to keep Harlow homes warmer this February if we face another cold freeze.

On top of all this we are also restoring the link between pensions and earnings. The Basic State Pension will always increase by the highest of prices, earnings or 2.5 per cent.

Some people have asked why not just link pensions to consumer price inflation? But this "triple guarantee" ensures that a typical pensioner will actually get in their lifetime an additional £15,000 in extra state pension over and above what consumer price inflation would give them. This avoids the problem of what we have seen in the past, with outrages like the derisory 75p increase.

I am proud of the fact that the Government has honoured David Cameron's pledge to enhance the state pension, protect the Winter Fuel Allowance and other pensioner benefits that people depend on.

Finally, the state pension could be increased to about £140 a week under Government plans to ensure everybody has a decent retirement income. If we scrapped complicated and expensive means-testing, we could save enough money from reduced bureaucracy to pay for £140-a-week.

This would benefit everybody in retirement and would be a particular boost for women, many of whom lose out on the state pension after taking time out of work – and national insurance contributions – to bring up children.

Providing help and support

INEVITABLE and indiscriminating though it is, bereavement is probably life's greatest trauma which, even today, knows no immediate relief.

Whether the death of a close relative or friend is to some extent expected, the shock and grief is nonetheless overwhelming.

We all deal with bereavement differently and there is no right or wrong path to take. We will all find our own unique way of coping, but will share some common feelings. These may include numbness, shock, confusion, anger and guilt.

One of the most immediate concerns will be to arrange a funeral. Here the first person to contact is the funeral director, who is able to take on the whole responsibility of ensuring the arrangements are made according to the wishes of the family and that these are carried out in a professional manner.

A funeral director acts as an agent for the family, organising all the various requirements. Some companies will have comprehensive booklets, which set out simply and clearly the procedures and formalities which occur at the time of bereavement.

When choosing a funeral director, ensure they are part of the Funeral Ombudsman Scheme (FOS).

Members of the scheme operate under a strict code of practice which has been drawn up with the Office of Fair Trading to monitor and control the standard of service rendered to the public by its members.

Never be embarrassed to ask a funeral director to show you their premises or enquire about the likely costs. A reputable funeral director will be more than happy to answer

Pedestrian suffers leg injuries in hit-and-run

POLICE are appealing for witnesses after a pedestrian suffered serious leg injuries in a hit-and-run accident.

The 26-year-old victim was walking eastbound along the A414 near the entrance to the Travelodge at North Weald when he was struck by a vehicle that failed to stop.

Although the man is unsure when the accident happened, a motorist found him lying by the roadside at about 2.50am on Saturday, January 29.

Investigating officer PC Sue Keel said: "The man had been out for the night with friends and was trying to get back to his home in the Brentwood area.

"He was near the entrance to the Travelodge when he was struck from behind by what he thinks was a light-coloured vehicle. That vehicle did not stop but it is possible that the driver was not aware that he had hit someone.

"We want to hear from anyone who may have seen what happened or from anyone who may have seen the man walking along the A414."

Anyone who can help should contact PC Keel at Chigwell Road Policing Unit on 0300 333 4444.

Charity's struggle to rehome greyhounds

HOUNDS OF LOVE: Maureen Young with some greyhounds in need of a new home

THE Harlow branch of a national animal charity has launched an urgent appeal to dog lovers willing to adopt homeless greyhounds.

The Retired Greyhound Trust is facing a tough year after seeing its re-homing figures plummet over the past 12 months.

It is now searching for new homes for 49 dogs currently being kept in Harlow kennels.

The charity has nearly 1,000 greyhounds in need of new homes across the country and many more who have recently retired and are waiting for a space in the charity's kennels.

Trustee Ivor Stocker said: "The homing figures for 2010 are really disappointing for our hard-working volunteers and bad news for our greyhounds.

"Greyhounds have very individual personalities and our volunteers, who are based in our 72 kennels across the country, have years of experience homing them.

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

"They can match the right dog to the right individual or family to ensure everyone lives happily ever after."

According to Mr Stocker, most greyhounds get on well with other pets, including other dogs and cats.

"More and more retired couples and older people who are on their own are taking on retired greyhounds as companions," he added.

"The fact that they only require two 20-minute walks a day suits many people whose circumstances mean they can't get out for long walks several times a day.

"All the dogs are looking for is a loving family who will be rewarded with the devotion of a loving companion."

To find out more about adopting a retired greyhound, contact the charity on 0844 826 8424 or log on to www.retiredgreyhounds.co.uk.

at a very difficult time . . .

any questions you may have as to whether there is a Chapel of Rest, whether their staff are qualified, what the fees are and what age and make the vehicles are.

A good funeral director will be available 24 hours a day, 52 weeks of the year to offer an emergency service with advice and counselling.

All arrangements will be made on the family's behalf either at the funeral home or in the privacy of the family's home. The fees should be paid by the funeral director on a family's behalf and added to the account; thus there is usually nothing to pay at the time of making arrangements. Families should also receive an itemised account for the services after the funeral.

Coping with bereavement after the funeral can be particularly difficult, especially for those who are on their own. However, there are people who can help such as the local vicar, minister or priest and also organisations such as Cruse, The Samaritans and the Hospice Care Services. Details of these and others can be obtained from your local funeral director.

It is comforting to know that a number of people have made it their vocation to provide help and support at a time when there are so many things to think of and also at a time when one is least able to think.

Being prepared can also help. Funerals are no longer the taboo subject they used to be and people openly prepare and plan their own funerals.

It's a sad truth that most people don't plan adequately for funerals, with the consequence that many families can struggle with the bills.

An increasingly popular way to address this issue is by using a prepaid funeral plan. These plans reduce the financial worries and assist in the bereavement process by recording the specific instructions of the deceased, effectively removing potentially difficult decisions from the family, and therefore easing the burden at what already is a difficult time.

Seeing through the magic of invisibility

SCIENTISTS believe that Harry Potter-style invisibility cloaks could one day become reality after inventing a device that makes small objects disappear!

Although not quite up to the standard of the boy wizard's magic garment, it can render items like pins and paper clips invisible by splitting light.

Made from calcite crystal, the 'cloak' was built by physicists from the University of Birmingham, Imperial College London and the Technical University of Denmark.

Led by Dr Shuang Zhang of Birmingham University's school of physics and astronomy, the team glued two triangular pieces of calcite together and placed them on a mirror.

When light enters the calcite, it splits into two rays travelling at different speeds and in different directions, making objects underneath appear to vanish.

The researchers claim that using bigger calcite crystals would mean that much larger objects could be rendered invisible.

Dr Zhang told reporters: "This is a huge step forward as, for the first time, the cloaking area is rendered at a size big enough for the observer to 'see' the invisible object with the naked eye.

"We believe that by using calcite we can start to develop a cloak of significant size that will open avenues for future applications of cloaking devices."

The research team's finding have been published in a scientific journal called Nature Communications.

County ready for tax freeze

ESSEX County Council is to freeze its share of householders' council tax bills.

The authority's Conservative cabinet this week agreed a budget of £864m, which will keep the cost of an average Band D property in the county at £1,086.

The freeze comes despite a Government grant settlement, which was £40m down on the current year. The council is currently implementing a programme aimed at saving £300m.

The cabinet agreed a number of further cuts which include reviews of library opening times, mobile library routes and the home-to-school transport policy for students, a review of opening times and locations of recycling centres for household waste and savings from new civil parking partnerships with district councils.

Council leader Peter Martin said: "This has been one of the toughest budgets that I can ever remember the council having to set and I'm very proud that we have managed to not increase the council tax burden for residents while also keeping the savings we have had to make to a minimum.

"Local government is facing some large challenges and the next 12 months will see many changes, but I am determined that in Essex we keep residents at the heart of what we do and shape these changes around them.

"My priority is to continue to deliver the best quality of life but also to make savings. We are all living in difficult financial times and the council is no different."

The budget will be presented to full council for approval later this month, on February 22.

Council tax bills are made up of demands from both the county council and district council as well as the county's fire and police services.

Helping to give kids a healthy start

HEALTH workers pounded the pavements in Harlow town centre on Saturday to raise awareness of a new food voucher scheme helping hard-up parents give their children a Healthy Start in life.

A pop-up café was set up in Broad Walk to promote the West Essex PCT-backed initiative, which provides families on low incomes or in receipt of certain benefits with vouchers for free milk, vegetables, fruit and vitamins.

Senior health visitor Jo Eley said: "We had a lot of mums talking to us and many didn't realise they are entitled to the Healthy Start vouchers which can only be used for healthy foods such as fruit and vegetables."

Toad conjures up magical memories of a golden age

REVIEW

Toad of Toad Hall
Moot House Players, Moot Hall

HIGHWAY TOAD: Robbie Chittick, left, as Mole and Dan Powell as Toad

PERHAPS there never really was a golden age of the English countryside, but Moot House Players' production of Toad of Toad Hall certainly convinced us that such a time existed.

From the opening scene when a little girl, Marigold, explains to her nanny that the lives of animals might be as real to them as our own human lives are to us, we are in an idyllic world of imagination and nostalgia.

Enchanting young Bethany Hewlett played Marigold with clear-voiced confidence, capturing perfectly the charm and innocence of the play and introducing us to the animal heroes.

The play, written by Winnie the Pooh creator A.A. Milne, is based on The Wind in the Willows by Kenneth Grahame and focuses on the misadventures of the boastful but loveable egotist, Mr Toad.

Toad's friends – Mr Mole, Mr Rat and Mr Badger – despair as he moves from one craze to another. As a wealthy animal he is able to indulge each new passion, from boating on the river to becoming the proud owner of a horse-drawn caravan. But his downfall occurs when he becomes infatuated with the motor car and progresses from reckless driving and car crashes to court and finally to prison.

Dan Powell was a terrific Toad, full of energy, enthusiasm and bluff bonhomie. It was easy to see why, in spite of his selfishness, his friends continued to help him.

Kindly Mole, played by Robbie Chittick, and his newfound friend the river-loving Rat, played by Tony Edwards, team up with Jon MacNamara's wise old Badger, to try to make Toad see the error of his ways.

When that fails and the wicked wild wooders – stoats, weasels and ferrets who live in the dark and dangerous wood – take over Toad Hall, the friends bravely take up arms to drive them out.

Moot House Players first performed Toad of Toad Hall in 1967. I can remember watching it then (aged 13, since you ask) and enjoyed it just as much this time round with the Moot House Players at their very best.

The play has a large cast and many actors played several roles. It seems unfair to single any out, but I must mention the younger members who delighted the audience with their singing, dancing and acting. Pollyanna Johnson has a particularly expressive face.

The sweet sadness of the jazz and ragtime music which accompanied the play enhanced the elegiac quality of the production.

It's hard not to think that, like Mr Toad, we have all allowed our addition to motor cars to destroy something precious in our lives.

Murder mystery is classic Christie

LOSE yourself in the twists and turns of a classic whodunit next week when award-winning theatre group Global Productions presents a thrilling new production of Agatha Christie's The Hollow at Harlow Playhouse.

In a tale to set pulses racing, the murder of a distinguished doctor puts the sleuthing skills of Inspector Colquhoun to the test as he attempts to untangle a complex web of jealousy and deceit before the killer strikes again.

Brought to life by the same team behind last autumn's hugely popular Playhouse production of fabulously funny farce Noises Off, the play promises to keep audiences guessing until the final curtain. Director Michael Michael told the Star: "As you'd expect with anything to have come from the pen of the world's greatest crime writer, this is a gripping tale of murder and mystery packed full of twists and turns. "Although it's perhaps not one of Christie's most famous stories, it has all the ingredients of a classic whodunit and some truly fantastic characters."

He added: "We've got an excellent cast and rehearsals have been coming along really well. We just can't wait to get started!"

The Hollow runs at Harlow Playhouse from Friday, February 18 to Sunday, February 20. Evening performances on Friday and Saturday start at 7.30pm, while Sunday is a matinee-only performance starting at 2.30pm.

Tickets cost £14.50 (£12.50 concessions) from (01279) 431945.

This woman was once the face behind the news...

...in fact Sunita worked for her Grandfather at their newsagency in the North of England. From 6am to 6pm, 7 days a week she could be found behind the counter where she always kept a warm welcome for the local and regular customers. More recently though, her Grandfather suffered a serious motoring accident and the shop was forced to close. Out of work Sunita struggled to make ends meet while she nursed her Grandfather. That was when an ex-customer notified NewsAid who quickly stepped in to help.

There are many people in the news distribution trade - some young and some not so young, who just like Sunita have fallen on hard times, others have retired or are unable to work due to disability. Perhaps you know of someone.

Bridges follows in the footsteps of The Duke

certificate 15 1h50m

JOHN Wayne won the Oscar as hard-drinking gunslinger Rooster Cogburn in Henry Hathaway's 1969 version of True Grit.

It became a signature role for the actor known affectionately as The Duke, sharing the screen with a young Robert Duvall and Dennis Hopper.

Almost 40 years later, Jeff Bridges is nominated for the Oscar for the very same role in Joel and Ethan Coen's masterful reworking that layers this bloody tale of retribution with the brothers' trademark black humour.

It's clear from his first appearance, shifting nervously in a courtroom witness stand, that Bridges is not paying homage to his predecessor. He mumbles words as if he is permanently chewing on a ball of tobacco, spitting out polished one-liners like bullets.

"I was just 14 years of age when a coward by the name of Tom Chaney shot my father down and robbed him of his life," explains Mattie Ross (Hailee Steinfeld) in her opening voiceover. "You must pay for everything in this world, one way and another. There is nothing free except the grace of God."

And so Mattie seeks out marshal Rooster Cogburn (Bridges) and hires him to help her track down Chaney (Josh Brolin), who has taken up with Lucky Ned Pepper (Barry Pepper) and his gang.

A tenacious Texas Ranger called LeBoeuf (Matt Damon), who has been on Chaney's trail for some time, joins the hunting party. "I know Chaney," he tells Mattie, "it is at least a two-man job taking him alive."

True Grit has an impressive 10 Oscar nominations and deserves every single one. Production design is impeccable, beautifully evoking the era when a gun spoke just as loudly as words.

Steinfeld is a revelation as the plucky daughter on a quest for vengeance. She is utterly believable in the role, holding her own against seasoned co-stars.

Bridges is a hoot but some of his best lines are impossible to understand on the open plains through his garbled delivery. Damon, Pepper and Brolin offer strong support.

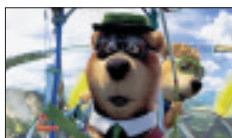

The Coens canter through the brilliantly orchestrated gunfights but always remain tightly focused on the characters and the delightful, if somewhat fractious, relationship between Mattie and Rooster.

Tracey Waples
Property Editor

NO-ONE ever said buying or selling a house was easy.

If the actual decision-making itself wasn't difficult enough, there are all sorts of possible pitfalls along the way between an offer being accepted and the exchange of contracts.

An Englishman's home may be his castle but it can be a bumpy road to the castle gates!

How many times have you heard someone complain about the length of time a house sale is taking? We are often a little too keen to heap blame on the legal process but before you put your house on the market you could help to protect yourself from unnecessary delays and ensure your sale goes through as smoothly as possible.

As well as taking care of any cosmetic issues such as peeling paint, untidy gardens, broken fencing etc, you should also ensure all planning consents are in place for any work you have carried out.

If there are any boundary disputes, make sure they are sorted out. When you bought your home originally were you made aware of any unusual issues? Tell your solicitor – it could help avoid the process stalling later on.

Don't be tempted to get involved in unnecessary negotiations with your buyer. Leave this to your estate agent. They are the experts and it's what they do best!

If you need a new mortgage, make sure your finances are in place.

Chains can so easily collapse if a buyer becomes exasperated waiting for issues to be resolved. With a little forward planning you can help the course of your sale run smoothly.

Souped-up Audi is one to savour

By Richard M Hammond

IT'S been 30 years since the quattro four-wheel drive system first appeared on an Audi road car in the UK and it's hard to imagine the effect it would have on the perception of the brand.

A few World Rally Championships helps of course, but it was always the road cars that were at the heart of the philosophy, giving the security of traction and grip in all weathers.

Over the years the Quattro tag has been applied to every car in the range. Even the latest addition – the baby A1 – will eventually benefit from the high-tech transmission. But it is the performance cars that truly get across the point and the latest slice of compelling evidence is the RS3.

Based on the existing A3 Sportback, a premium hatchback that has been a frequent sight on UK roads, the RS3 gets a serious dose of aggression and attitude to turn it into a bona-fide performance car. The RS tag signifies the highest level of performance and it inherits the 2.5-litre five-cylinder turbocharged powerplant already seen in the

Audi RS3

£40,000
(to be confirmed)

Engine: 2.5-litre petrol unit producing 335bhp
Transmission: 7-speed dual clutch auto driving all four wheels
Performance: Top speed 155mph (limited) / 0-62mph 4.6s
CO₂ emissions: 212g/km
Economy: 31mpg

TT RS.

Developing a serious 335bhp backed up by 331lb.ft of torque, the RS3 puts its power down through the fiendishly-clever S-tronic seven-speed gearbox through to the quattro four-wheel drive system.

It also looks the business. While a completely standard A3 Sportback is tasteful and relatively restrained, the RS treatment brings deep, aggressive spoilers and air intakes, chunky alloy wheels and a purposeful stance thanks to the lowered suspension.

The inside is special, too. Even though it shares a cabin with lesser versions, there is plenty of leather, suede and superb bucket seats.

But a car like this is all about the driving experience. Firing up the RS3 brings a deep, purposeful burble from the exhaust and a distinctive one at that thanks to the five-cylinder configuration. Slot the transmission into Drive and it will roll happily along, the large band of torque making life very easy for the driver. It takes no more effort to drive in this manner than any other Audi, and from the driver's seat you could be forgiven for thinking it was a relatively humble machine.

It only takes a moment to reveal the flip side, however.

For the full effect the transmission needs to be switched to manual mode and the S button pressed, which activates a sound flap in the exhaust and also changes to a more aggressive throttle map. Start to squeeze the accelerator and the response is immediate, a distinct deepening of the exhaust note is accompanied by a rapid and prolonged burst of acceleration.

The engine note increases in complexity and resonance as the rev counter closes in on the red line, all the while the speedometer is reading off ever-higher numbers.

Flick the right paddle behind the steering wheel and the RS3 effortlessly switches up a gear and the engine performs its brilliant act once again.

Squeeze the brakes hard and speed is effortlessly shrugged off while the stiff suspension keeps everything on an even keel.

The steering responds quickly and accurately to inputs, but it is the traction from the quattro system that allows you to exploit all the power much readily than in any two-wheel drive car. You have to trust the system and believe in the physics because it's hard to get your head around what this car is capable of – press the throttle hard and early and you are catapulted out the other side in a blur.

It may be a simple recipe but the combination of characterful engines, sharp and sophisticated chassis with a handsome and purposeful design is a delightful one to savour.

The RS3 will be more limited than most, too, with just a few hundred examples reaching the UK later this year. But for the lucky few, it will be a car to savour.

Take a test drive and you could win £100 in shopping vouchers

IT'S the $64 million dollar question – what is Va Va Voom?

Whatever it is, it's back and will be showcased at E J Darlington Renault, in River Way, Harlow, from today (February 11) to Monday, February 14.

Anyone who takes a test drive in a new Renault at the dealership over the Va Va Voom weekend will be entered into a prize draw to win £100 worth of shopping vouchers.

Sales manager Gary Hollinshead said: "We will be talking in the language of love over the Va Va Voom weekend. Last year, we marked the 20th anniversary of the Clio and this weekend we're celebrating the return of Va Va Voom."

"Everyone who test drives a Renault will be entered into a prize draw to win £100 worth of vouchers to spend."

From Hélène of the 'Size Matters' campaign through to Thierry Henry, there have been some iconic TV adverts showcasing the Renault Clio and the search for Va Va Voom, a phrase that ended up being adopted by the English language and even into the Oxford English Dictionary. Before that, Papa and Nicole brought the Clio to life, helping to establish it as one of the best-loved cars in the UK.

Gary added: "As the event coincides with Valentine's weekend, customers will undoubtedly fall in love with the limited edition

Bizu range from Renault. Bizu comes from the word 'bisou' which is French for kiss! Renault's popular Twingo, Clio, Mégane and Scénic models are even more irresistible thanks to the new Bizu badging which sees fantastic offers on all models as well as generous equipment levels.

"However you define Va Va Voom – whether it's passion, attractiveness or allure – be sure to come and see us!"

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle. That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD). A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

Victory puts Harlow four points clear at the top

THE Rams Ladies are four points clear at the top of RFUW South East division two after a battling 15-7 home win over Southwold Ladies on Sunday.

In a bitterly cold wind, Harlow showed courage to overcome a committed and very physical Southwold team.

Tremendous Harlow defending kept the Suffolk side out.

The hosts broke the deadlock just before the midway point of the first half. Prop Kelly Cotterill eventually forced her way through for an unconverted try.

But a converted try close to half-time put the visitors in front (5-7).

With the wind in their favour after the break, Harlow dominated and went ahead when flanker Nikky Millman peeled off with the ball to touch down close to the posts.

Rebecca Conway converted and then added a late penalty to complete the scoring.

HARLOW LADIES: Baldwin, Marshall (Lucas 60), Cotterill, Nickell (Doherty 40), Lee (Rochester 60), Dixon, Millman, Lacey, King, Gibson, McKenna (Mann 40), McLellan, Conway, Morgan, Perry.

Hawks lack a cutting edge

AFC Sudbury 1, Harlow Tn 0

Ryman, division one north

THE Hawks failed to show the crucial incisive edge as they slipped to a narrow defeat at AFC Sudbury.

Harlow Town had enough chances to have secured at least a point from Saturday's clash at the MEL Group Stadium.

However, Danny Chapman's side left empty-handed and cannot afford too many more slip-ups if they want to gain a play-off spot.

Chapman felt his team performed well, but is fully aware that the end product is the key.

"We had three excellent chances. By rights we should have scored from all of them. There was also one half chance and we should have at least scored one," he said.

"Apart from that, I felt that we played excellently."

Early action saw Tom Devaux's header from Michael Shin's corner blocked by the face of Hawks keeper James Hasell.

At the other end Lee Roache had a shot blocked and on 28 minutes, Sudbury had a penalty claim turned down when a Danny Emmanuel cross hit the hand of Hawks right-back Donny Barnard, but it was judged unintentional by the referee.

Just before the break, a key moment for Harlow came and went when Roache had a one-on-one with ex-Bishop's Stortford keeper Nicky Eyre. However, Roache hit his shot straight at the custodian.

A rueful Chapman said: "That was probably our best chance and he could have struck it harder."

Hawks striker Leon Antoine scuffed a shot on the hour mark before the game's sole goal came three minutes later. Dubi Ogbanna, making his Sudbury debut, eluded the Harlow defence and fired in an unstoppable shot from outside the box to the left of Hasell and into a corner.

Chapman said: "It was a very good goal. He could not have struck the ball any better."

Shortly after, Sam Clarke went close for Sudbury.

Antoine nodded narrowly wide on 77 minutes, before he miscued a cross from Harlow substitute Clark Akers.

Chapman added: "I thought we were the better side and deserved at least a draw."

HARLOW TN: Hasell, Barnard, Brown Gledhill, Stewart, Kilapi, Ferguson (Akers 73), Lalite, Roache, Antoine (Stadhart 82), Cowley. Subs not used: Peagram, Wheeler, Winston (gk).

● THE Hawks have rearranged their league game away to Ware because the Herts side are in Herts Senior Cup action. This game was scheduled for Tuesday March 1, but will now take place on Tuesday March 15.

Sibling rivalry as brothers clash in Senior League

THE beers – and the takeaway – were on the youngest of the Whitbread brothers after James got the better of Tom when the Harlow-based brothers clashed for the first time on opposite sides when Takeley beat Sawbridgeworth Town in Saturday's Essex Senior League match.

Striker James Whitbread, 26, only joined Takeley from Sawbridgeworth Town three weeks ago and it was the first time the pair had gone head to head in a competitive match.

Tom Whitbread, 24, was in central midfield for the visitors.

The pair, who live in Old Harlow, were then on the same side when their Sunday team, Old Town Athletic, played the next day in the Harlow & District League.

Speaking straight after Saturday's game – a 3-1 victory for Takeley – James explained: "It was a bit weird at the breakfast table this morning. It was the first time we have played against each other. I was a bit worried he was going to put sleeping tablets in my coffee!"

"We had a little bet beforehand. He's getting the takeaway tonight after this," joked James.

In fairness James Whitbread was rather lucky to stay on the pitch for the whole game.

The striker, who was yellow carded for dissent in the second half, had escaped without a caution following a rash challenge on Robins centre-half Elliott Babbs after barely 120 seconds!

The game was held up for five minutes and Babbs eventually had to be replaced by sub Tom Day.

Goals from ex-Sawbo striker Ashley Conlan and a Lewis Baker penalty gave Takeley a 2-0 half-time lead.

After the break, George Wappett pulled a goal back but Anthony James wrapped up the points with a third for the hosts.

The side are managed by Harlow-based ex-Sawbo boss Don Watters, and nearly two-thirds of the team are from the new town.

Forward Whitbread said: "We should have won this by a few more. We shouldn't be at the bottom of the table."

But Whitbread does not expect younger brother Tom to join him at Station Road. "I don't think Tom will be coming up here. We've got a few central midfielders here," he added.

Ladies go third by doubling up

HARLOW Ladies moved firmly into contention for promotion in the premier division of the Essex Hockey League with two wins at the weekend.

Having beaten Southend II 6-1 away on Saturday, the Passmores-based side edged a five-goal thriller at Wapping in a rearranged game on Sunday.

Harlow remain unbeaten away from home and are third in the table.

Against Southend, Harlow had the wind in their favour in the first half.

The visitors took the lead after just eight minutes when captain Emma Tweddle fired home a penalty corner. Four minutes later, Georgina Esterhuysen crossed for Anna Ferdinando to fire home inside the near post.

Harlow keeper Linda Rowley made a fine double save on 20 minutes.

Carolyn Welsford made Southend pay just two minutes later when her shot was deflected into her own goal by her opposite number in the Southend midfield, Bethan Gregory.

Esterhuysen slotted home for 4-0 on 32 minutes.

With the elements in their favour, the hosts made it 4-1 from a controversial penalty corner on 44 minutes.

Welsford grabbed a second when her shot eluded an unsighted keeper to restore Harlow's advantage. Player-of-the-match Petra Trimble rounded things off when she rifled in after Tweddle and Welsford had combined down the left.

The scorer then went off with an ear injury, but Harlow held on.

The next day, a brace from Esterhuysen sealed a 3-2 victory.

Wapping went ahead after just two minutes, but Welsford converted a penalty corner after Tweddle and Sonya Amos combined on 12 minutes. The visitors took the lead after 25 minutes from another penalty corner. Sue Douglas's shot was turned in at the near post by Esterhuysen.

Wapping scored from a penalty stroke after Alex Figg, on the goalline, stopped a certain goal.

But Harlow grabbed a winner when Charlotte Byers crossed and Esterhuysen netted with 12 minutes left.

Third win for Cru

Rams lack Bec's factor

Harlow RFC look doomed after loss to strugglers

Harlow 16, Beccles 25

RFU London division two north east

ONLY a miracle run of wins can save Harlow from the drop after their key defeat at home to fellow strugglers Beccles.

Saturday's loss left the Rams at the foot of the 12-team table and looking relegation certainties.

They are five points behind 11th-placed Beccles and seven adrift of 10th-placed Old Streetonians.

Rams vice-captain and full-back Rob Mackie said: "We are in a very difficult situation. We need to win at least two to catch up to the teams above us and need to go on a run [to survive]. We must be positive."

He added: "We need to be more clinical and take chances, as other teams have done against us."

"We will have 10 minutes of pressure and not score, whereas other teams

score from their pressure."

Harlow started well against Beccles and went ahead through an eighth-minute penalty.

The visitors countered and forced a penalty on 12 minutes inside the Harlow 22.

They took it quickly and Rams lock Darren Hawkins tackled the ball carrier without having retreated 10 metres, earning himself a yellow card.

From the retaken penalty Harlow held out the Beccles drive, but a further attack from a second phase of play saw them touch down an unconverted try.

Harlow, still down to 14, regained the lead (6-5) from a Michael Dobson penalty on 20 minutes.

The Rams increased their advantage just before the break. Prop Danny Lane drove forward before passing to flanker Sean Roberts who touched down the unconverted try.

Harlow led 11-5 at the break.

Beccles had the wind and slope in their favour in the second half and penalties on 42 and 56 minutes put them level (11-11).

It was cut and thrust until the 70th minute.

Harlow conceded a penalty near their line before Beccles drove over the line.

Hawks boss sure side can halt Higgins

HAWKS boss Danny Chapman is confident his defence can deal with the threat posed by East Thurrock United striker Sam Higgins in their Ryman League clash at Barrows Farm this Saturday.

Higgins played for East Thurrock in 2009-10 before joining Blue Square Bet South club Chelmsford City last summer.

He scored 16 goals in 28 league and cup matches this season for the Clarets, before re-joining East Thurrock this week.

Chapman said: "He's a capable player, but we are more than capable of dealing with him with the way we have been playing."

East Thurrock are second and beat Harlow 3-0 when the two teams met 16 days ago.

However, the Hawks have since won three of their last four games.

Chapman said: "If we beat them that sends out a big message about what we are trying to do. It would be a fantastic result if we win."

"We are more than capable of beating them. When we played them last time they deserved to beat us, but it will be a different game on Saturday. Everyone is confident we can go out and win."

Central defender and club skipper Leo Roget is working his way back to full fitness after a back problem.

Meanwhile, utility player Mark Taylor (hip injury) played for the reserves last week.

Chapman said: "Mark Taylor had an excellent 90 minutes for the reserves, but is a week or two away from being in the squad."

Left-back Sacha Opinel has not recovered from a calf injury and will miss out this Saturday. "Sacha will be having a run out in the reserves at Hornchurch [today]."

Potters sunk by late winner

A 79TH-minute goal from Lee Roache kept Harlow Town in the play-off hunt as they won a 'six-pointer' at Potters Bar Town.

Tuesday's triumph at the Parkfield Stadium saw the Hawks go to 10th spot. They are a point behind Potters Bar and five points shy of a play-off spot.

Hawks boss Danny Chapman said: "We could have won by two or three or more goals, but the main thing is we won. It was a fantastic result. "It was about going there and doing a job and that is what we did."

A goalless first half saw Harlow come close to scoring at least three times.

Home left-back Matt Clifford made two crucial goalline clearances. He superbly cleared Leon Antoine's goalbound effort on 12 minutes before later stopping a wind-assisted Dave Cowley corner which almost crept in on 20 minutes.

In between these efforts, home keeper Shane MacSweeney tipped round a shot from Antoine. Just before the break, Clark Akers lobbed a shot over the bar.

Harlow created more chances in the second half.

Hawks sub James Peagram had a 70th-minute shot well saved by MacSweeney.

The breakthrough came 11 minutes from time. A

Cowley corner from the right found Getro Kilapi at the back post and he headed the ball across the face of goal to Roache who stabbed home from inside the six-yard box.

MacSweeney denied Peagram on 85 minutes.

Chapman added: "We have been threatening to score from set-pieces in the last few games and this goal was a training-ground routine one."

"We totally dominated the first half. Potters Bar came more into it in the second half, but James Hasell did not have to make a serious save in the whole game."

HARLOW TN: Hasell, Barnard, Brown, Gledhill, Stewart, Kilapi, Akers (Ferguson 74), Lalite, Roache (Stadhart 82), Antoine (Peagram 68), Cowley. Subs not used: Modeste-Humphrey, Wheeler.
